Honorable John M. Leddy
Assistant Secretary for International Affairs
Department of the Treasury
Washington 25, D.C.

Dear Mr. Leddy:

Your letter of 7 April 1961, regarding the President's amendment of Executive Order No. 6260 and containing your request that the Central Intelligence Agency collect and disseminate to the Department of the Treasury information about gold held abroad by U.S. citizens and by resident U.S. aliens, has been considered attentively with a view to providing all possible assistance.

As you know, the Central Intelligence Agency, by law, has no police or law-enforcement powers. In accordance with National Security Council Intelligence Directives, my predecessors and I have made provision for the collection of information on U.S. citizens abroad only when they are known or believed to be engaged in activities directly related to espionage, counter-intelligence, sabotage, or subversion.

Therefore, in the course of its operations, and particularly from its liaisons with foreign intelligence and security services, CIA can acquire information pertinent to your purposes. In general, however, such information is likely to concern movements of gold and the activities of personalities, including Americans, in support of clandestine activities of the Sino-Soviet Bloc.

ER

It has been our practice to make this kind of information appropriately available to other members of the U.S. intelligence community. In response to your request, I am also directing that all such information be sent promptly and specifically to the Department of the Treasury. In addition, I am directing my representatives abroad to ensure that any information acquired by them in the course of carrying out their assigned duties and bearing upon your request is forwarded expeditiously to CIA headquarters here.

Please be assured of my desire to provide you with all possible assistance in this matter.

Sincerely,

Allen W. Dulles
Director
